Seasonable Thoughts.

If the almanac isn't at fault this is the time of year when Christmas presents are almost ripe. This may account for sundry otherwise inexplicable movements which have of late been observed at home. Everybody must have noticed that the whole house is enveloped in an air of mystery. Even the cat nods her head as though she "could a tale unfold."

This is the one time in all the year when whispering is polite as a matter of family moment, and only a bald-headed old bachelor who never has any Christmas anyhow, will object to it. This is the time when doors are suddenly shut and locked, and intruders kept out without discrimination. There is an almost incessant cautioning and wire-pulling, and you may be sure that something is going to happen before long.

If the INTELLIGENCER could tell every one of its friends what would be the one thing altogether lovely and appropriate for every other friend a generation of readers would rise up and call the INTELLIGENCER blessed. What to give is a poser, and the task is made all the more difficult because every brain is racked to know not only what is the good but what is the acceptable thing. Now here is where it is almost impossible to go wrong. Any kindly token of remembrance is acceptable. It is the Christmas spirit of good will, not the Christmas gift of value, that counts. If we hear this in mind we shall find it no laborious task to select the right thing for the right person.

It will be a great advantage if we determine not to put off the purchases until the last moment, when everybody else who has done the same thing is rushing into the stores and pulling the stock seven ways for Sunday. Storekeepers would rather see you now than later, and since a good many storekeepers are human and all of them likely to be kinder as Christmas draws near, the INTELLIGENCER urges in a confidential way that now is the time to get through with your selections. Procrastination is the thief of the best things in every storekeeper's stock. The really desirable articles are here to-day and gone to-morrow.

LITERARY NOTES.
 The American Agriculturist for January will be very acceptable to our farmer friends. Standing in the front rank of its class the Agriculturist steadily improves.

Oswell's Family Magazine (Cassell and Company, New York) is a new candidate for public favor. The volume for the year will contain over 800 pages freely illustrated. Price $1.50 a year, very attractive publication.

The Agricultural Review for December will be welcome in any farm home. A paper on bee-keeping covers the whole ground and will be found of practical value. General Babbin goes minutely into the profits of stock raising in the north-west.

Dr. Lewis's Monthly, though scarcely half a year old, has made its own place and drawn to it many friends. As to the name of the editor suggests, it deals largely with health themes, though it is not confined in its scope. There are interesting stories and sketches and bits of travel. The December number is full of good reading.

The Christmas number of the Magazine of American History has some choice things appropriate to the season besides a great deal of interesting general historical matter. John Bates Clark's "Christmas in Old Virginia" is a finely illustrated article that will be read with much interest. This magazine has won its way into high favor.

Harper's Magazine starts the new year (January number) with a splendid specimen of magazine literature. There is an illustrated article on Whitman, the Quaker Poet, and another on James Buchanan, which would be enough to make this a striking number. "The Old Packet and Clipper Service" recalls the days when we had a merchant marine. The editor, in his own departments, is happy as usual.

A Triumph for Good Literature.
 Concerning some of its recent publications, we present the following interesting items culled from the American Bookeller, and other sources.

In a general way, the public are familiar with the aims of this house, and have come to regard its publications as a guarantee of excellence in all essential qualities.

F. F. Brown's Life of Oliver Wendell Holmes is an authentic and interesting biography, published with the sanction of Dr. Holmes, who has aided the author with valuable dates. (12mo, illustrated, $1.50.)

Poet's Home. A beautiful book, edited by H. H. Stoddard, Arthur Gilman and others, with illustrations of Longfellow, Whittier, Lowell, Bayard Taylor, and all other leading American Poets. (8vo. cloth, gilt edges, $4.00.)

Mr. W. Sloan Kennedy's Life, Genius, and Writings of John G. Whittier, uniform with the author's popular Life of Longfellow, is an appreciative and scholarly contribution to biographical literature, and will be welcomed accordingly. (12mo, illustrated, $1.50.)

The popular reception of Jowett's translation of Thucydides witnesses the continued interest of a wide circle of American readers in the choicest classical writings, and is evidence that efforts of translators and publishers to present these writings in new and attractive forms are not unappreciated.

Decorative Plagues, in which the picturesque designs of G. F. Barnes are set to a harmony of words by Mary E. Wilkins, is a book which appeals to all lovers of illustrated poetry, and which will be welcomed by amateur and professional decorator. (Ouroboros cover, 70 cents; unique blind, 50 cents.)

Luthera Whitney has appreciated the need of a book which should serve as a guide to the best of early New England literature, and has supplied it in a delightful little volume entitled Old Times, Days and Ways, and to make the book complete, W. Parker Bodfish has contributed sixty-two capital homestead drawings.

Under the title of Idiot Poems, are presented twelve poems, selected from those which are the acknowledged masterpieces in the English language. Celebrated artists have prepared for each a beautiful full-page drawing, and the result, obviously, the highest excellence in poetry, engraving, printing and binding, makes the poet's platters in regard to it as one of the most superbly illustrated books of the season.

In The Kingdom of Home, with its beautiful illustrations and elegant binding, Mr. Arthur Gilman, with exact judgment, has gathered the best of poems that relate to the "Kingdom" which he has in mind; and since the most beautiful of all songs have been inspired by love, which is the center in the home circle, it is not too much to say that this is a collection of the best of all songs. (Extra cloth, beveled edges, $6.00; Turkey Morocco, antique gilt, $9.00.)

 In The Post and the Children, for which John G. Whittier contributes the opening poem, Matthew Henry Lathrop has collected the choicest poetry for young folks anywhere to be found. The volume has a profusion of choice illustrations from drawings by Sandham, W. Parker Bodfish, Miss L. B. Humphrey, Miss Northern, Jessie Curtis, Shepley, and a score of other artists equally deserving of mention.
 Among publishers who have carried into their work serious convictions as to their duty to the public in the matter of supplying good literature, and who have resolutely resisted all temptations to the more lucrative direction of that which is simply sensational, an honorable place may be claimed for D. Lothrop & Co., Boston, who have accorded to that of no publishing house, in the elevation of the popular sentiment, and the creation of a demand for wholesome books.

Excels in Everything.
 The Wheeling Intelligencer is one of our most able, active and fearless correspondents, and excels in everything that goes to make up a good newspaper.

A Leading Commercial Paper.
 The Wheeling Intelligencer is one of the leading commercial papers of the country.

Half of 'Em Read It.
 The best recommendation we can give the Intelligencer is, that one-half of the people of this county are subscribers to it, irrespective of party or future condition. The Intelligencer keeps pace with the times.

Enlisted To Its Place.
 The Intelligencer as a reliable newspaper is entitled to the front rank which it occupies among the newspapers of the day.

A Lesson in Finance.
 "Which is the best, to owe or to have something owing to you?" asked Colonel Lagerbeer of Gen. De Smith one day.

"Why, to have something owing to you, of course," answered Gen. De Smith, who is one of the brightest society youths in Austin.

"I don't agree with you," said the Colonel.

"Because, if you have something owing to you, you may never get it. But if you owe something, when you are able to pay it you have value received, anyhow, and if you never pay—why, then you are sure to make a handsome profit."

At a recent meeting of the overseers of Harvard College, a discussion was held upon a resolution which had been before the board for several weeks, that in the opinion of this board, the statutes making attendance on morning prayers and other religious exercises compulsory should be repealed. The board, by a strong vote, refused to adopt the resolution. But Mr. George Shaffer, lately from Marlborough, Mass. county, Pa., who was advised the use of Peruca before a visit to a General Hospital, was allowed to take that per-kallant remedy, and by its use for a very short time, was cured completely. Page 24 in the "Hills of Life" get one from your druggist.

"I wish you would come home earlier," said a woman to her husband; "I am afraid to stay alone. I always imagine there's something in the house, but when you come I know there ain't."

The fault with most all cough preparations is that they contain morphia, and are absolutely injurious to the stomach and nerves. That simple preparation of wild cherry bark, called Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, contains no morphia and yet will cure a cough or cold in less time than any other compound. It is the only reliable cure for consumption.
